

Dr. Nancy Staton Barbour returned to Oregon State in 2024 after serving as Director of Evaluation and Assessment for the School of Medicine at Dartmouth College.

She was formerly an instructor in Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies and Coordinator for Assessment and Writing in the School of Language, Culture, and Society at OSU. She also served as interim Program Manager for Oregon State ADVANCE, a National Science Foundation grant-funded program to promote equity for STEM faculty in academic professions.

Nancy received her PhD in Education from Oregon State University.